- 1) WO 1999/000406
- 2) WO 2002/024222
- 3) Exp.Opin. Invest. Drugs (2000) 9 (1) pp 43-52
- 4) Clinical and Experimental Allergy, 2001, Vol 31, pp 1714-1723
- 5) J Allergy Clin Immunology, 2002 Vol 109, No 4 pp 592-602
- 6) Pulmonary Pharmacology and Therapeutics (2001) 14 pp 193-202

Claims 1-26 are now limited to the use of the cyclic peptide of formula 1 as the G-protein coupled receptor antagonist used in the treatment of a hypersensitivity condition including asthma.

The agents comments have been noted but are not considered to be persuasive.

The cyclic peptides of formula 1 are already known from citation 1 that also describes them as G-protein coupled receptor antagonists.

Citations 2 -6 all disclose the fact that G-protein coupled receptor antagonists are useful in the treatment of a hypersensitivity condition including asthma.

It would have been obvious for the skilled worker to combine citation 1 with any of citations 2-6 and endeavour to treat the said condition with the peptides of present claim 2.

Claims 1-26 cannot be considered to involve an inventive step when citation 1 is considered in combination with either or any of citations 2-6 and do not comply with article 33(3) of the PCT.
